Quit looking at things and being afraid. Look to your ideals and desires, and remember your source and infinite supply. Keep dwelling mentally on your infinite supply; keep using that supply according to your ideals. Fears will drop away from you and power and wisdom, Love, God, will flow into you and through you. Never admit a fear. Bid it get behind you. Never admit a "can't." Pull yourself together and declare "I can-I WILL." Fear makes you feel paralyzed. Ignore it. Rise up and ACT, and you will see how little power the fear really had. Fear is but a paltry stage-trick hypnotist. You cannot be hypnotized if you refuse to look at fear. ACT and fear flees into the bottomless pit whence it came-into nothingness. Keep on acting as if you felt no fear. In due time the feeling of fear, the hypnotized sense, will disappear for good. You will smile, and your solar center will expand and let in more God-feeling, more power and wisdom, than you have ever had before. Sometimes you may be too badly paralyzed to act as if you had no fear. Well, then, just breathe. You are never too paralyzed to go outdoors, or to an open window, and breathe. Right breathing will dissipate fear. By using the chest and abdominal muscles properly you can shake the kinks out of that paralyzed solar plexus and let in power. An influx of power from the Infinite will enable you to turn your back on fear and act as you desire to act. When you are anxious and afraid your breath comes in short, shallow gasps and you can literally feel fear clutching your-"heart," you call it. You feel fear clutch your solar plexus. Now, take a slow, full breath, clear down to the bottom of your lungs, and clear out as far as the walls of your chest will go; hold the breath as long as you can without straining; and then see how very slowly you can exhale. Keep your lips firmly closed all the time, but do not press the teeth together; and see you stand straight, chest out, hips back, head up, with crown high and chin in. Ah, now-after even one such breath you feel decidedly less paralyzed. Your solar plexus is not in quite so hard a knot, and there is a brighter look in your face. A good beginning. Now take another such breath, and yet another. Take a dozen of them. Now, you will find yourself decidedly less paralyzed. You can go out and ACT now, as if you never had a fear. Of course, your teeth may chatter a bit, and you may feel a trifle weak in the knees, but the hypnotic spell is broken, power is pouring into you from the Infinite, and you can ACT. Go right along and do it. Keep on breathing deeply and telling yourself that you can and you WILL. And you will succeed. And next time it will be much easier to do. After practice enough it will grow so easy that you will forget you ever had that paralyzed, hypnotized feeling, of being afraid to do what you desire to do. You will have taught your solar plexus to stay open and let in power, instead of collapsing just at the critical moment when you needed extra power.

This is an encyclopedic dictionary of close to 400 important philosophical, literary, and political terms and concepts that defy easy—or any—translation from one language and culture to another. Drawn from more than a dozen languages, terms such as Dasein (German), pravda (Russian), saudade (Portuguese), and stato (Italian) are thoroughly examined in all their cross-linguistic and cross-cultural complexities. Spanning the classical, medieval, early modern, modern, and contemporary periods, these are terms that influence thinking across the humanities. The entries, written by more than 150 distinguished scholars, describe the origins and meanings of each term, the history and context of its usage, its translations into other languages, and its use in notable texts. The dictionary also includes essays on the special characteristics of particular languages--English, French, German, Greek, Italian, Portuguese, Russian, and Spanish. Originally published in French, this one-of-a-kind reference work is now available in English for the first time, with new contributions from Judith Butler, Daniel Heller-Roazen, Ben Kafka, Kevin McLaughlin, Kenneth Reinhard, Stella Sandford, Gayatri Chakravorty Spivak, Jane Tylus, Anthony Vidler, Susan Wolfson, Robert J. C. Young, and many more. The result is an invaluable reference for students, scholars, and general readers interested in the multilingual lives of some of our most influential words and ideas. This is an inspiring guide to the practice of Chan (Chinese Zen) in the words of four great masters of that tradition. It includes teachings from contemporary masters Xuyun and Sheng Yen, and from Jiexian and Boshan of the Ming Dynasty (1368–1644). Though the texts were written over a period of hundreds of years, they are all remarkably lucid and are perfect for beginners as well as more advanced practitioners today. All the main points of spiritual practice are covered: philosophical foundations, methods, approaches to problems and obstacles—all aimed at helping the student attain the way to enlightenment.
