We love many people in many ways. And we never forget the trails we went through in finding love. Remember your first kiss? The passion and emotions that rippled through your body. Stirring emotions that words can't even begin to describe. Remember the heartache of losing that love? Then finding the strength to trust and love again. Love through my eyes will take you on a ride of love; and then some. This is the authors the first published book of poetry, which is based on her life experiences. It is a very special collection of prose and poetry of hope, faith, and inspiration, fulfilling her lifelong dream to share her insights and reflections through her poems. My books are a self-expression of the many letdowns I have faced in life. Not only in love but also in the things that I have noticed in the world outside my circle.

Understanding others is second nature to me, for I tend to reach out and touch those who fall subject to a life of being misunderstood, abused, and mistreated. Therefore, when I reach out, I reach with understanding and compassion to assist them through what I know I too have long suffered. However, in the process, I ran into many who have taken my kindness and desire for true love and passion as a form of weakness. Then there was the other side of me. The woman who stood strong no matter what the circumstances and fought for what she knew was right and faced many who felt that their position with me or in life would overtake the strength that I had inside as a woman. Needless to say, they too, in the end, were very disappointed. All because I know my worth. A LOVELY LADY BELIEVES IN HERSELF

SHE'S STRONG WILLED AND CONFIDENT WITHOUT A DOUBT HER SENSE OF HUMOR, INTELLIGENCE, AND WIT ALLOWS HER TO ACCEPT CRITICISM AND NOT POUT... A LOVELY LADY, I TRULY AM I AM A LOVELY LADY, IN MORE WAYS THAN ONE IT HAS NOTHING TO DO WITH MY PHYSICAL ATTRIBUTES WHEN IT'S ALL SAID AND DONE... * * * The author's creative efforts are based on her feelings, actual experiences, and her runaway imagination for love and romance. Her mixed genre of poetry ranges from family/friends and love/relationships to poignant and spiritual. She says that

feelings are simply expressions of the heart as seen through the windows of our eyes and should be shared. In our own uniqueness each of us still experience some of the same trials and tribulations as well as blessings. Our darkness is only temporary and will be a testimony to help others who are going through the same things or worse. There is always a bright light in the end, because God will never leave us alone. It is His promise. Also, when you are blessed, you should share your blessings with others. God works in mysterious ways. It is her hope that this book touches you to a degree that you realize you are not alone during your heartache and pain. Maybe you will be able to let your wall down and love again or know when to let go and move on. Her intentions are to inspire you to love and accept yourself and also to encourage you to cope with and overcome the storms of life. She will not believe that her poetry has been written in vain; therefore, she gives God all the praise and glory. The world through my eyes are words on a blank page of a journey where the darkness was drowned by the light. If I can meet you somewhere along the lines, then my purpose is complete. Allow the truest fragments of your imagination to hold your hand as together we make masterpieces from our hearts while knowing that you are not alone. The poems in this book are sentiments and memories written by me, unless otherwise stated. I have also included a couple of poems by friends which have special meaning to them. I have credited those poems with their name and an explanation. Presents a collection of fifty poems featuring teen narrators who share their thoughts about love and heartbreak, in a volume that also explores a variety of poetic forms. All these poems were written over a 30 year period. My life then had a lot of physical and emotional pain I dealt with daily. I struggled trying to find myself so as to raise my two girls with a positive outlook on life. I wrote a lot of poems for therapy for myself to raise my spirits and increase my strength to go on. I wanted my children to have a better life than I seemed to be living and yet I wanted them to fight if they didn't have the best so it could be better. I wanted them to be positive, to laugh and be happy even when things seemed the worst. I know from the way they have grown into lovely women they are strong, positive and happy. I learned I must have done something right within all my mistakes I had made with decisions and men in my life. I think you will find this book very inspirational, helpful in ways and maybe a little bit humorous. Ten can be challenging, ten can be fun. Ten can be terrifying, lonely, baffling, hilarious. Full of charm and surprise, ten-year-old Ben Hanning's poems are layered with the texture of his world. From the taste of a banana to a scene in Sarajevo, his words hold something different for every reader. ~~"From the title to its closing Author's Note, this collection of poems by a ten-year-old boy--by turns amusing, endearing, and enlightening--is a wonder, an invitation to look through a clear glass into another mind." - Shirin Yim Bridges Ezra Jack Keats Award-winning author of Ruby's Wish ~~ "When I Close My Eyes' is a story told in poetic form about heartbreak, love, sex, drugs, alcoholism, and many other forms of paths to self destruction. Every poem in this book represents everything I ever wanted, and everything I never wanted. This book isn't to role model. This book is to speak the truths, my truths. Join me in this poetic nightmare "Through My Eyes: A Life of Poetry and Prose" gives us a poetic glimpse into the heart, mind and soul of a spiritual man; trying to make it, day to day. The poet and author, Zebulon Brooks, writes with amazing honesty; allowing each reader to feel his joy, pain, angst and love. 'Covid Through My Eyes' is a book of poems that gives the readers an authentic experience of how kids have managed the quarantine, lockdown and fear. It contains a summary of the best and worst feelings that not only kids, but adults went through as well. So dear reader, Flip through this book and see if you can relate to any of the poems.... - The Author An anthology of verse by women poets writing in Persian, most of whom have never been translated into English before, from acclaimed scholar and translator Dick Davis. A Penguin Classic The Mirror of My Heart is a unique and captivating collection of eighty-three Persian women poets, many of whom wrote anonymously or were punished for their outspokenness. One of the very first Persian poets was a woman (Rabe'eh, who lived over a thousand years ago) and there have been women poets writing in Persian in virtually every generation since that time until the present. Before the twentieth century they tended to come from society's social extremes--many were princesses, some were entertainers, but many were wives and daughters who wrote simply for their own entertainment, and they were active in many different countries - Iran, India, Afghanistan, and areas of central Asia that are now

Uzbekistan, Turkmenistan, and Tajikistan. From Rabe'eh in the tenth century to Fatemeh Ekhtesari in the twenty-first, the women poets found in The Mirror of My Heart write across the millennium on such universal topics as marriage, children, political climate, death, and emancipation, recreating life from hundreds of years ago that is strikingly similar to our own today and giving insight into their experiences as women throughout different points of Persian history. The volume is introduced and translated by Dick Davis, a scholar and translator of Persian literature as well as a gifted poet in his own right. What do you see when you look at the world? The answer is subjective. Through My Eyes displays the world through the eyes of a child who has been hurt one too many times. Good times or bad, it paints a vivid picture of life, love, and loss. My hope is you find something in one of these pieces that resonates with your life experience. My hope is we will talk about and explore more of what makes us human, makes us real, and makes us live the lives that we are meant to. Capture the many facets of love, life, and everything in between through a poet's eyes. In this collection of poems, dreams, and thoughts, Deyanira Villalta taps the inner recesses of her soul and pens down pieces that are bound to comfort, move, and inspire. Take a flight of breathtaking lyrical rapture in the engrossing pages of Through My Eyes. Through His Eyes is a collection of quotes and poetry. A book that will show you what True Love is all about, something that is very rare these days. It is about the language of love that should never die in our lives. Love that will ignite a flame in your heart and keep you warm throughout your life. In the midst of the roller coaster of life, I was able to take moments to create a written journey. When life turns upside down, you are unsure where it will take you. For me, it was in a form of a poem. As the poems grew, it was overwhelming. I decided to put these poems in a book form and share them with you. What I found within my writing was a trigger to help with overcome stresses. As most would say "getting it off my chest". It was therapeutic. When I Close My Eyes I See The Universe is a journey of reflection and growth. This collection of poetry and prose explores the realities of identities, pain, self-love, healing, self-discovery, community, and hope. I would like to dedicate this to all my friends and family. Really everyone that has played any kind of role in my life. Youve all inspired me one way or another to write a piece in this book. I would like to thank you all for that. "Through my eyes" is an anthology of poems written by Michael Powell regarding his views on love, live, death, God, and the experiences of growing up black in America. "Through my eyes" offers the insight and words of a person who has experienced love, hate, loss, pain, happiness, discrimination, depression and joy. The poems are thoughtful, and insightful but gritty and edgy. The descriptiveness of the poems allows the reader to feel the pain and sadness, to smell the fears and depression, to experience the happiness and joy and to understand the anger and conflict. The poems are written with vision, hope and pride with a simplicity, yet unique feel to them. The feeling is real and heartfelt. "Through my eyes" describes the feelings that many readers will relate to and understand and also provide insight to others on the experiences of being a working class black man in America. "Through my eyes" is about the views of a man who has something to say to each and every reader. Through My Eyes As A Poet encompasses the real life accounts and experiences as well as people close to the Author Bill Gulden. These accounts span from the author's childhood to this present day. The author brings you face to face with the war in Iraq and what our troops over in that country are faced with. Learn how to improve relationships and make the best out of what is handed to you in this life. "The only one that can change my situation in life is me." Travel back to Biblical times and take the trip with Noah. Big Brother is not just a story; learn what we are doing to make this come about. In Through My Eyes As A Poet learn how New York City is the most exciting place traveled. "They brighten up Central Park like a glistening gem." New Jersey, learn what the Garden State has within "A Stress Test". Through My Eyes As A Poet learn how Christmas has made an impact on the author's life as well as the lives of people in the world. Learn how "Teamwork" works and remember there is no "I" in team! Ranis Thomas III has seen his share of struggles and successes in life. His struggles have transformed into dreams; his dreams into sadness; his sadness into denial; and finally into an awakening where he decided not to wallow in self-pity. While encouraging an outlook that with each sunrise comes a new beginning, Thomas shares a collection of moving poetry that recognizes and explores a variety of emotions that include sorrow, grief, happiness, and love. As he reflects on his feelings and experiences, Thomas leads others on a journey into his heart where he unveils sometimes raw, often inspirational feelings intended to help others learn and grow from mistakes, ultimately becoming happier in the process. Through My Eyes Only shares poetry that provides a glimpse into one man's journey through life as he transforms struggles into lessons and learns to embrace simple joys. This poetry is all about me and my loved ones, those whom I have loved and those I have lost. These are my feelings and real life events. In the midst of the roller coaster of life, I was able to take moments to create a written journey. When life turns upside down, you are unsure where it will take you. For me, it was in a form of a poem. As the poems grew, it was overwhelming. I decided to put these poems in a book form and share them with you. What I found within my writing was a trigger to help with overcome stresses. As most would say "getting it off my chest". It was therapeutic. Through My Eyes is a compilation of my ups and downs, joys and pains, innermost feelings and deepest thoughts. I hope that you will enjoy going on this emotional journey with me as I touch on various topics including love, money, gossip, and self worth. My poetry is a reflection of my life experiences. Some of my poems come from my humorous side, and some come from my spiritual side. There are even some that come from my raw and sensual side, but ALL of my poems come from the heart.

Dionne Oakley was born and raised in St. Louis, Mo. After high school she obtained a license in cosmetology, but she has always held a passion for writing (and the arts). Now married and the mother of one beautiful daughter, Dionne is in her prime. Blessed with several gifts from the Almighty, her biggest talent seems for the moment to come in her poetic writings. She can easily put pen to paper and her message flows with a rhythm all its own. She has shared her poems with her church, family and friends. Now she's ready to share them with the world. Sample these and see if they are to your liking. I wouldn't be surprised if you'll want more. For over half a century, David Ignatow has crafted spare, plain, haunting poetry of working life, urban images, and dark humor. The poetic heir of Whitman and William Carlos Williams, Ignatow is characteristically concerned with human mortality and human alienation in the world: the world as it is, defined by suffering and despair, yet at crucial times redeemed by cosmic vision and shared lives. His development as a poet is chronicled in Against the Evidence, title of the poem in part quoted above and meant by Ignatow as the metaphor for the whole body of his work. Where his previous collections have been organized thematically, Ignatow here arranges his poems "according to the decade in which they were written&...returning each to its chronological order." Against the Evidence charts the evolution of his themes from the earliest origin in the Thirties to their present extraordinary manifestation in a variety of poetic forms and modes. When reading the book "Through My Eyes," what should come to mind? Dive into different perspectives on various topics discussing things such as politics and societal injustice to mental health and relationships. Explore and redefine your ideas through the readings of dark poetry. How is it that you envision our world? CharNell Fitchett, a vibrant 21 year old, grew up being known as the "preacher's kid." Blessed to be raised by both her parents, she is the youngest of four children and the only daughter. She spent most of her childhood growing up in a small town known as Snow Hill, MD. To her family and close friends she has the personality of a true superstar. Dancing, singing, acting and making others laugh comes natural to her. When it comes to meeting new people she can be known to automatically shift into her introverted personality. When you come in contact with this brilliant young lady, everyone has the opportunity to get the "Best of Both Worlds." Before entering her sophomore year of high school, her world was shaken by the abrupt death of her mentor. Doing what she does best, she began to pull out notebooks and write letters to ease the heavy burden she was dealing with. Within six years, those letters soon turned into poems and she has no intention on stopping anytime soon. Writing poetry has become an emotional release for CharNell and has helped her get through many difficult times in her life and she recognizes writing as a tool to get her through obstacles she may face in the future. Writing keeps her sane in this crazy world and has inspired her to take life head on! She may come off as shy at times, but the words she writes provides the voice that she needs to inspire others. CharNell's words will take you on a journey that will ignite and positively encourage a new generation. And this is only the beginning... "Lee's lyrics have a tidal sweep as he moves between the universe within and the world without."
