Your Dream Journal Have you ever woke up from a dream and asked yourself why? Why were you riding a purple unicorn? Why were you at the office covered in sticky notes? This book isn't the professional you want to see about them but merely the journal you will want to write down what happened in. Our dreams are the way our subconscious mind can communicate with us. By writing down your dreams you can start to see recurring themes or patterns and it strengthens your ability for dream recall. When you use a dream journal, you want to write down every possible detail. Locations, emotions, sounds, colors and anything else you notice. Make note of the themes. Are you always in a specific place, wearing certain clothes or is it always with the same people? Write out your dream as soon as you wake up from it. Don't worry about grammar or spelling and just get it out. Then title the dream something that conjures up the images you just described. I suggest buying a reputable dream interpretation guide along with this journal so you can start to explore the meaning of your dreams. Scroll up and hit the orange buy button today! Time is not my friend. With every tick of the clock, my options wane. Winning a lunch meeting with the CEO was supposed to be the answer to all of my problems. After all, Nixon Ballard is known for taking a bit of money and turning it into a lot. But his easy dismissal of my financial struggle took what I hoped would be a quick solution and turned it into my only option. An option to provide for those who matter most. An option that lays everything on the line. This was meant to be a sacrifice, but quickly became the escape I really need. The old adage is true... time is money. Which makes it one of my most precious commodities. Starting my company ten years ago, I quickly understood that success is garnered from milking every moment of the one thousand four hundred and forty minutes each day has to offer. Every meeting, conference call, and agenda item is carefully orchestrated like an elaborate meal. Each course perfectly timed and curated, building to the grand dessert- my weekly scheduled evening with a hired beauty. Ninety minutes with no expectations, other than mutual pleasure. Ninety minutes where no one knows who I am. Today was meant to be the same. Until it wasn't. Until Natalie. Waking up from a great dream can be a surreal experience.
