Consumption Behavior - Comparison of SPAR and LIDL Dec 09 2020 Seminar paper from the year 2006 in the subject Business economics - Marketing, Corporate Communication, CRM, Market Research, Social Media, grade: 1,7, Göteborg University, 17 entries in the bibliography, language: English, abstract: Recently certain serious changes in the dynamic retailing sector could be noticed. Changes in the market environment, and a certain adjustment of the customers' needs, demand for a reaction in the market. Satisfying these changing needs, the importance of discounters in the retailing branch was more and more strengthened, since these markets are beginning to better meet the needs of the majority of customers in the market. Consequently discounters face a certain success and were able to grow and to capture new market shares of other retailing institutions by generating more and more sales. Therefore the aim of this paper is to provide a description of the current situation and the further expected development in the retailing market in Europe. To stress the importance of the discounters' influence on the market as well as the difference between different market's institutions satisfying various and differing needs of differentiating groups of customers, a comparison of an exemplary ordinary retailer, SPAR, and an exemplary discounter, the LIDL Stiftung & Co. KG, is provided. Within the whole retailing industry, the food branch provides an exemplary market to work out these differences among discounters and ordinary supermarkets. In this market, discounters faced a certain success and customer changes could be more clearly and numerous recognized.

Strategy Sep 17 2021 "The most important book by one of the outstanding military authorities of our time."—Library Journal Strategy is a seminal work of military history and theory, and a perfect companion to Sun-tzu's The Art of War and Carl von Clausewitz's On War. This is the classic book on war as we know it. During his long life, Basil H. Liddell Hart was considered one of the world's foremost military thinkers. In his writing, he stressed movement, flexibility, and surprise. He saw that in most military campaigns, it was vital to take an indirect approach. Rather than attacking the enemy head-on, one must dislocate their psychological and physical balance. With key examples from World War I and World War II (think trench warfare vs Blitzkrieg), Liddell Hart defines the practical principles of waging war—"Adjust your end to your means," "Take a line of operation which offers alternate objectives"—and proves they are as fundamental in the worlds of politics and business as they are in warfare.

Dickson Polynomials Dec 29 2019 Dickson polynomials are closely related with Chebyshev polynomials. They have a variety of algebraic and number theoretic properties and satisfy simple second-order linear differential equations and linear recurrences. For suitable parameters they form a commutative semigroup under composition. Dickson polynomials are of fundamental importance in the theory of permutation polynomials and related topics. In particular, they serve as examples of integral polynomials which induce permutations for infinitely many primes. According to 'Schur's conjecture' there are essentially no other examples. Dickson polynomials are also important in cryptology and for pseudoprimality testing. The book provides a comprehensive up-to-date collection of results concerning Dickson polynomials and presents several applications. It also treats generalizations to polynomials in several variables and related rational function like Redei functions. Each of the seven chapters includes exercises and notes. Tables of Dickson polynomials are given in the Appendix. For most parts of the text only the basic theory of groups, rings and fields is required. The proof of 'Schur's Conjecture' is largely self-contained but is based on more advanced results like an estimate for the number of rational points on an absolutely irreducible curve over a finite field. Two important theorems on primitive permutation groups are supplied with complete proofs. The book may serve as a reference text for graduate students or researchers interested in algebraic or number theoretic aspects of polynomials and for cryptologists.

Contingent Ardor May 26 2022 Poetry. CONTINGENT ARDOR is a collection of poems about desire, a series of love letters constructed through a surreal collage of compressed images. Inspired by the "palimpsest principle" in HD's work, many of the poems are composed over existing texts, including interviews, dialogues, and liturgy. "Tell me about yourself. Inflection expresses pleasure. Where are you from? A house with many drawers and in each one is a bird. Your race? Monarch orange and bristling"--from "Voir Dire."

Starsdown Aug 05 2020 Poetry. Jasper Bernes's magnificent and multi-layered first book, STARSDOWN, emerges as a record of Los Angeles as its physical space collapses into specters and marks, where "the sky is a swimming pool" and the signs and stars keep switching places. Beneath the glittering surface of the last American city, this book animates the profusion of irreconcilable vernaculars and histories that the city's "pastel-washed meta-burglaries" have contrived to make disappear. An archaeology of futures past and futures to come, STARSDOWN improvises a poetry which stands finally as actual invention and possibility.

EXPRESS STATISTICS "Hassle Free" (R) For Public Administrators, Educators, Students, and Research Practitioners Oct 19 2021 The goal of EXPRESS STATISTICS, using a quantitative approach, is to assist public administrators, educators, students, and research practitioners in finding solutions to everyday real-world problems; and without being burdened with complicated formulas, calculations, and other mundane activities associated with conducting research. Notwithstanding the hassle-free presentation, the book and software include all of the pertinent statistical concepts from basic rudimentary statistics to multivariate analysis. The discussions include the assumptions of the targeted statistics, coupled with a well-developed research issue. The presentations also include an explanation of the problem, hypotheses or questions, statistics to use, and a write-up of the findings. The approach is not so much concerned with how to compute statistics, but with the underlining assumptions and purpose of a particular statistic. Statistical applications are tools. The key is to know when and how to use a specific tool. Moreover, in this approach, a statistic is not regarded as an end in itself, but as a means to an end. The companion software is easy to use, self-prompting, interactive, and menu-driven, with clear and straightforward explanations. The learning curve is less than an hour. The tables, charts, and graphical depictions are complete, including all of the necessary statistical information needed for dissemination. Also, for immediate use and portability, the tables, charts, and graphics can be saved, available

Ecominimalism Mar 12 2021 In this age of eco-bling where sustainability becomes yet another ill-defined buzz word and people rush to fix their unsuspecting buildings, with green technology badges such as wind turbines, not all such additions are as green as they first appear. This book highlights more realistic and cost effective approaches to going 'green' by showcasing 'eco-minimalism' - a good-housekeeping approach to ecological building design and specification, concentrating on less glaringly obvious strategies such as insulation, draught-proofing and the use of healthy materials. This book exposes the pitfalls of 'greenwashing' in an immediate, visually-arresting and authoritative way. The intention is to present basic tenets in a quickfire, highly accessible format not just for architects, other construction professionals and related students but everyone who cares about the sustainability of our built environment.

A Practical Guide to Monoclonal Antibodies Mar 04 2023 Includes all of the information required to produce monoclonal antibodies in the laboratory and to prepare them for use in a multitude of given applications. Production procedures are treated in chronological order, beginning with basic tissue culture techniques, immunization strategies and screening test design, followed by production of hybridoma cell lines and basic antibody characterization, purification and labeling. Each chapter contains explanatory text on each step with comparative analysis of methods where appropriate. All necessary experimental protocols are presented in a self-contained format that is easy to follow in the laboratory. Alternative protocols are provided where relevant; for others not included in full, source references are presented. Surveys the current status of human hybridoma production and antibody engineering using molecular biology techniques.

Applied Abstract Algebra Oct 07 2020 Accessible to junior and senior undergraduate students, this survey contains many examples, solved exercises, sets of problems, and parts of abstract algebra of use in many other areas of discrete mathematics. Although this is a mathematics book, the authors have made great efforts to address the needs of users employing the techniques discussed. Fully worked out computational examples are backed by more than 500 exercises throughout the 40 sections. This new edition includes a new chapter on cryptology, and an enlarged chapter on applications of groups, while an extensive chapter has been added to survey other applications not included in the first edition. The book assumes knowledge of the material covered in a course on linear algebra and, preferably, a first course in (abstract) algebra covering the basics of groups, rings, and fields.

Basil Henry Liddell Hart Lecture Notes Mar 31 2020 In the fall of 1952, Captain Liddell Hart undertook a speaking tour of the United States that included several days at the Armor Center, Fort Knox, KY. At that time, W. Russell Todd (later Norwich University president) was assigned as his escort officer and accompanied him on visits, discussions, and talks at the Armor Center. While there, Captain Liddell Hart gave Todd his basic notes, some of which were handwritten. President Todd had them copied and delivered to the Armor School library and also kept a copy, represented in this collection. The typescript consists of 21 chapters (or tabs).

Deterrent or Defense Dec 21 2021 Here is a much-needed assessment and summing-up on four current strategic situation by B. H. Liddell Hart, the leading military analyst of our time. Taking a clear, hard look at Western defense capabilities and strategic planning, particularly as they are embodied in NATO, he has come up with suggestions for radical but vital revisions in our defense policies. Fifteen years have elapsed since Captain Liddell Hart forecast the consequences of atom-bomb diplomacy. Now, as the NATO powers move uneasily forward in the 1960's, he shows how the development of the H-bomb—and, indeed, the multiplication in general of nuclear weapons on both sides—has become on the one hand, increasingly self-inhibiting, and, on the other, increasingly precarious as a protective insurance policy, especially in view of the development of log-range missiles. The natural consequences of the current nuclear parity is nuclear nullity. Thus, the nuclear deterrent, in which the West has put so much trust, is fading except as a deterrent to its own kind of action. But the Western powers have not yet come to grips with the problem of finding an adequate and effective replacement for this “fading deterrent.” As a result, the West now finds itself gravely hampered in any attempt to resist the more subtle forms of aggression and pressure. Having carefully analyzed the ailment, the author offers a hopeful cure, demonstrating how the weakness of the West's present position can be remedied without an intolerable outlay in strain and cost.
