Fair and Unfair Trials in the British Isles, 1800-1940 Apr 27 2023 Adopting a microhistory approach, Fair and Unfair Trials in the British Isles, 1800-1940 provides an in-depth examination of the evolution of the modern justice system. Drawing upon criminal cases and trials from England, Scotland, and Ireland, the book examines the errors, procedural systems, and the ways in which adverse influences of social and cultural forces impacted upon individual instances of justice. The book investigates several case studies of both justice and injustice which prompted the development of forensic toxicology, the implementation of state propaganda and an increased interest in press sensationalism. One such case study considers the trial of William Sheen, who was prosecuted and later acquitted of the murder of his infant child at the Old Baily in 1827, an extraordinary miscarriage of justice that prompted outrage amongst the general public. Other case studies include trials for treason, theft, obscenity and blasphemy. Nash and Kilday root each of these cases within their relevant historical, cultural, and political contexts, highlighting changing attitudes to popular culture, public criticism, protest and activism as significant factors in the transformation of the criminal trial and the British judicial system as a whole. Drawing upon a wealth of primary sources, including legal records, newspaper articles and photographs, this book provides a unique insight into the evolution of modern criminal justice in Britain.

The Thirty-Year Genocide Sep 08 2021 From 1894 to 1924 three waves of violence swept across Anatolia, targeting the region's Christian minorities. Benny Morris and Dror Ze'evi's impeccably researched account is the first to show that the three were actually part of a single, continuing, and intentional effort to wipe out Anatolia's Christian population and create a pure Muslim nation.

Disease Apr 03 2021 When journalist Hunter MacIntyre is diagnosed with early-onset Alzheimer's, he realizes that his life is about to change, not to mention that he's been handed a certain death sentence. Alzheimer's is a disease affecting the patient's loved ones as much, if not more, than the patient themselves. In Hunter's case, that's his partner Ethan and their five-year-old daughter Amy. How will they react to, and deal with, Hunter's changing behavior, his memory lapses, and the consequences for their everyday lives? Disease is a story of Alzheimer's, seen through the eyes of one affected family.

The Pathway Nov 22 2022 Part One. Life began in a flat above the estate agent. As Dad found employment in Peterborough, we moved overnight to our new home. Eight years later, after finishing Junior school, I went on a camping trip with the school. We were given the week's schedule and spent the evening mucking around on arrival. One evening, after planning some mischief, there was a shuffle at one end of the tent. Then, as I looked, I noticed a being walking as I looked from left to right. He stopped and stared at me before leaving. The following day I woke naked and scrambled for clothes. Many years later, I had forgotten what happened until I worked in a hotel and received a strange sensation about my nan's death. Thinking nothing of it until the day arrived when I was approached and told the Manager was looking for me. I asked, "What for?" "Your nan died." From that moment on, I listened to what they said. Months later, I was informed about a disaster. A few years later, I discovered what it was, or so I thought, as there was planetary conjunction on the fifth of May 2000. Twenty years later, I discovered what it was about Global warming.
