A killer lurks in the shadows waiting to strike. As a teenager, Ford Rain fought with his seven-year-old sister and left her in the tree-house alone to spend the night. The family woke the next morning to find her gone- without a trace. Twenty-one years later, during Ford's visit home his sister's shallow grave is found. Now, as a member of a supernatural team that hunts down killers for a living, he's armed to catch the monster responsible. And he's not leaving until justice is served. The only question left is who will be alive and left standing when this deadly game is over. Read all of Kate Allenton's books!Fractured Minds Series1. Stalked Justice2. Killing Justice3. Mystic Luck Box Set Fire and Ice Clothes designer and fire starter, Grey Sinclair is known for her over-the-top personality and her need for personal space. There's no room for professions of love or public displays of affection in her cozy little world of fashion and mayhem and certainly no room for a permanent man. Fireman Beck Marshall knows the small seaside town of Blansett holds secrets; he can feel the magic drifting on the wind. After a routine fire inspection with Grey Sinclair, he knows his life will never be the same, and he becomes determined to make the fiery little woman his own. When her cousins cast a love spell that goes horribly wrong and Grey's world is turned upside down, there's only one man who can help. When Grey's at Beck's mercy, it turns into a battle of wills to see who will break first. All Grey knows is that it isn't going to be her. Push and Pull Sydney Janzen has it all. She loves her life and is perfectly content in every way. Then Nick Spencer comes to Magicville, pushes his big, hunky body into her tidy world, and tries to pull her into a world of chaotic sensations. Nick Spencer knows a push when he feels one. When Sydney Janzen tries to push him out of her life, he recognizes she's filled with powerful magic. Sydney, however, can't control Nick with her talent like she can most others, and Nick takes advantage, pulling her closer until she's wrapped up in his life without a touch of magic on his part. Nick's special talent allows him to feel magical signatures, and the women of Mystic Tides soon learn that someone is out to steal The Hammer of Demons from Sydney's special collection. The cousins will have to work their special brand of magic to keep their town safe and evil at bay. Song and Sea Halona Jacobs lives in the town of Blansett, North Carolina, better known as "Magicville." With three best friends, three cousins at that, she was never lonely, until the day of a tragic accident. Now a decade later, she remains tethered to grief and guilt, feeling the swirls of emotions around others but numb to her own. She is missing that emotion that brings meaning to life. Drake Adams comes into her world like a tsunami. He floods her with feelings she hasn't known in a very long time. In town for a production, he has no plans to stay in this small town until he is charmed by one of its locals. He now must convince Halona that he is the man for her. Things have not always been easy for Halona and her three equally beautiful cousins, but together, they can ward off anything. And they intend to keep their town safe, come hell or high water. Dreams and Magic Bethany Kent, earth witch and healer, can't seem to heal herself when she feels her power fading. She's at a standstill in her life. Worse, her grandmother, once a powerful witch in her own right, seems to have been struck down with dementia. When Kal Burke, the new police chief, brings Grandma home with a warning after finding her on a beach trying to con the tourists, one look at the sexy police chief and Bethany is ready to commit a crime of passion. Kal Burke is more than he seems. He's been tracking a paranormal badass for the past three years and followed him to Blansett. Now, he's wondering if the earth witch and her grandmother are victims of the demon he chases. As he races to protect the town and save the woman he loves from evil magic, Kal unearths dark secrets that could destroy Bethany and her cousins. Combining their powerful magic with his own, Kal plays a dangerous game of cat and mouse with an ancient malevolence hellbent for revenge. Excerpt from Report on Tidal Investigations in Mystic River and Pond: Made by Order of the City Council of the City of Charlestown By examining the profile of the river it will be seen that above Medford Bridge the bed gradually rises from a level about that of low water mark of the bar bor to a point at Wood's Mill, 8; feet above that level, or some 1% feet only below the level of high water; so that the bed of the river from Medford up to the pond would be bare at every low tide, like the ats on the sides of the river lower down, were it not for the small fresh water stream and which stream continues to ow down during the rising of the tide until near the end of the ood the backed-up fresh water occupying the bed of the river in the upper reaches, and if the tide is of sufficient height is forced back into Mystic Pond. Poetry, short stories revealing mystical inner emotions flowing through our veins - then cascading over the oceans of our time and spaces. WINTER'S GHOST Autumn moon incautious in the dark river Winter's ghost walks with a covered face and silver bones wait in all animals to be bone cloth upon her shoulder wait for her happiness in that they are silver AN ANCIENT SUN Drink in the heat of an ancient sun held in the cold fire of water rising from earth and rock Spilling over your cupped hands and drawn to lips and tongue Pouring water's memory of the azure mist it fell from into the chalice of your flesh Turning your eyes skywards with desire for the freedom it was born of THE ORACLE'S MIRROR The oracle's mirror waiting for the Earth to unveil her The wolf's howl over snow The quiet place inside you - the vast knowing of the soul DREAMS ARE LIKE THE OLD STORIES Dreams are like the old stories where wolves are seekers always running, and women carry fire in their bare hands and light the dark paths before them. Old stories hold that the birds will fly all the miles of the world to tell your secrets to the rising moon, and men will walk over oceans of ice to find one truth. THE FIRES OF NIGHT The fires of night through distance dance ghosts who still know how to sing MY BEST GARMENTS WERE MADE OF ICE My best garments were made of ice falling in translucent snowdrifts - encase the evidence of years attempt to preservation But cannot cease the Earth that flows in liquid demolition Glistening ice that breaks on the greater movement and the continents shift and the change is all consuming and the fire rivers reform and the form itself does own no garments timeless SELKIE Alone, the cold body of the selkie man lay upon the sand, so like the drowned one the widow had called for. For her longing, he was hauled upon the sand, exposed to the moonlight. The selkie strained in fraught movements and human form broke from the gleaming seal fur. Undeniably he bore the image of the widow's lost husband and spoke with the sounds of the dead man's voice. She hailed back from the rocks. Shadows accumulating beyond the moon's ability to reform. Colours were washed from sight and silver crashed through her, colder than snow dreams of being. In the dark, the ocean became the rolling flanks of a great beast drifting back across the horizon. Out deep soon, the land's drop sharp. Since its early days in the possession of a man who never set foot on the land itself, Medford has been a place of possibility. Many Medford residents have made their mark on American culture, including James W. Tufts, the inventor of the soda fountain, and Fannie Farmer, author of the first modern cookbook. Medford has been the site of revolutionary changes, as entrepreneur Thatcher Magoun built the wildly successful clipper ship industry, and in the case of Belinda Royall, a slave who remarkably won her legal emancipation in 1773. Author Dee Morris renders a richly detailed history, from the Medford Square rum distilleries that sent a molasses smell wafting through town for centuries to the celebration for Amelia Earhart, who lived in West Medford briefly, before her first successful transatlantic flight. Medford: A Brief History reveals hidden stories behind a small town with a big legacy. 1924 Contents: Truth; the First Word; the Mystic; the Mystic's Path; the Birth of Truth; the First Mystery; the Second Mystery; the Third Mystery; Last Words. Contains bills and other legislative documents. This is a compilation of short stories written by Captain Buddy Ward, author of the novel "Tales of the Anna Karrue." It is Charleston Harbor at its best as seen through the windows of a working harbor tugboat. Why the NBC Today Show, Seattle Times, Denver Post, Boulder Camera, Longmont Times, Time magazine, and many others find this man's story to be astounding. Hossca Harrison in his own words writes, this book is not about phenomena, although phenomena are part of the story. This book tells about an emotional journey between life and death that begins in Central America and ends in England. It encompasses my journey through two near-death experiences over an eleven-year period. This book is not about death, although death is part of the story. Nor is this book about healing, although healing is a part of the story. My life may seem full of pain and suffering. Quite the contrary, it has been filled with experiences beyond the conscious conception of many. I have had the opportunity to experience life beyond the dreams many people hold. My life's story is not for the causal reader. This story is for those who know there is much more to life than meets the eye. My journey involves experiencing life beyond traditional beliefs - beyond traditional ways of thinking, creating, and healing. If someone had come to me in December of 1981 and forewarned me that before December ended, my life would end and begin again, that I would give up everything I thought to be true, including my business, my home, and my way of life, I would not have believed it possible. I could not believe it. My mind was very much entrenched in the illusions we make for ourselves in this reality. My mind could not have dealt with the future I was about to embark upon. Thankfully, no one told me what my future held. If someone had and I had believed it, I would have hidden under the biggest rock I could find. Nina Bennett When I sense someone in trouble, I'm the first to volunteer my help. My premonitions give me an edge, but don't always warn me when trouble is headed my way. It's hard to be a savior when you're the one who needs help. And when Harlon Simmons barrels into my life, trouble stared me straight in the eyes and laughed. The man needs my help, and won't take no for an answer. Harlon SimmonsI scoffed when a psychic friend claimed I needed help from a woman I'd save in the woods. But Nina Bennett, my damsel in distress, has a track record of her premonitions coming true. Convincing her to help save my sister should have been easy...after all, Nina admitted I was the man who'd starred in her dreams. But dreams aren't real life, and I didn't have time to play the role of Prince Charming. Together, we try to invoke her premonitions, but the result is...unexpected. She is knocked unconscious, leaving me with no option but to kidnap her and ask for forgiveness later. Someone is trying to kill Harlon's loved ones and time is running out.
