Honouring strong new voices from around the world, the 2014 Commonwealth Short Story Prize is a global award, open to unpublished as well as published writers, with a truly international judging panel. This global anthology presents the winner of the 2014 Short Story Prize, Jennifer Nansubuga Makumbi's "Let's Tell This Story Properly," alongside some of the most promising and original stories entered for the prize during the past three years by emerging writers across the literary landscape of the world. Gathered from over ten thousand entries, the selected stories are provocative, rich in flair and ambition, and push the boundaries of fiction into fresh territory. Hummingbird is by South Africa's Bridget Pitt. Acclaimed as "a reader's delight", nationally bestselling author Patricia Rice delivers this spellbinding tale set in England's distant past -- a story of two people bewitched by desire and bound by a madwoman's deception. Six years earlier, Angelique had worshiped dashing Captain Damian Legare with a little girl's adoration, but when she meets him again, he stirs in her the passions of a woman's desire With her mirrored bowl and her clever cat, Xanthe the fairy godmother works her magic once again to bring together a mistrustful pair--Lady Edwina Langston and her spurned groom, the dashing Viscount Ashtead. Nowhere on Aralie Branson's summer agenda did it say she would be hiding the most famous boy band in the world, Spaceships Around Saturn, in her house. But since her dad's impromptu offer to hide the band after a shooting, that's exactly what she's doing. Instead of pool parties and punk rock concerts, she's spending her days at war with the band's "bad boy," Julian Rossi. He's everything she hates about the music industry with his lame piercing, lack of tattoos, and fake black hair. But even with their laundry fights and screamed profanities, Jules is intrigued about the girl behind the black nail polish and zombie activism posters. And while Aralie would never say the words out loud, she's a little curious about the wannabe bad boy too. In this retelling of Starlight, experience the other side of lockdown from Aralie's point of view! (Author's note: This book was previously published as American Girl VS Saturn under the author's maiden name, Nikki Godwin.) In 1880s New York society, an elusive jewel thief dubbed Lady Moonlight is actually New Orleans debutante Mystere Rillieux, a woman who hides her past from everyone she meets. Everyone except railroad magnate Rage Belloch, who has never forgotten the masked women with the startling blue eyes and catlike grace. Now, amid glittering balls and operas, a dangerous dance of truth begins. Docking his steamboat in tiny Haven, Indiana, for repairs, Wyatt Colton meets spirited orphan Kitty and her foster mother, Rachel Browning, who both live in a nearby utopian settlement. Realizing their life at the settlement is far from blissful, Wyatt befriends Kitty and Rachel. Soon, Wyatt wants nothing more than Rachel's love and a lifetime together. But can Rachel believe him? (July) FICTION-ROMANCE/GOTHIC This is a gripping account of the ill-fated RAF raid, on 3 May 1944, on the Panzer tank depot and military barracks at Maily-le-Camp south of Rheims in northern France, part of the softening up process on German military targets, in preparation for the D-Day landings. Raids like this over occupied France were considered relatively low risk affairs and only counted for one third of a mission for the crews concerned. When a feisty Polish woman is rescued by a vile American plantation owner, her beauty turns her rescuer's bad disposition into desire. Original. From "USA Today"-bestselling author Scott comes the final novel in her Scottish Borders trilogy--the follow-up to "Border Wedding" and "Border Lass." Original. Wish Upon A Matchmaker - Marie Ferrarella Ginny Scarborough has picked out her new mummy à la Danni Everett, the local celebrity chef who hired Ginny's widowed father, Stone, to renovate her house. And Danni couldn't deny the immediate zing she felt for the handsome contractor. So why was Stone holding back when everything between them felt so right? Stone's heart had been, well, stone-cold for far too long...that is until he met the beautiful and bubbly chef. Still, Danni was part of a world where Stone and his little girl didn't belong. With two stubborn adults to contend with, could little Cupid still make her dreams of a family come true? Matched By Moonlight - Gina Wilkins Kinley Carmichael is on her way to transforming her family's historic B&B into Virginia's most exciting vacation venue. Romance is the last thing on her mind...until footloose travel writer Dan Phelan shows up. Dan is just passing through, so why is Kinley making him long to take that fateful walk down the aisle? It will take a local legend and a passionate kiss for two total opposites to realise they could be meant for each other... Her Perfect Cowboy - Trish Milburn Ever since rodeo promoter Liam Parrish came to town, India Pike hasn't stopped mooning over the gorgeous cowboy and single dad. Too bad Liam's totally wrong for her... Liam fell hard for a 'frou-frou' woman once before à la and the best thing to come from the experience was his daughter. But there's something about India that draws Liam to her. Both India and Liam admit that opposites may attract, but happy-ever-after is not so guaranteed! A touching story by the author of Blue & Bertie and Norton and Alpha All week long Ziggy looks forward to the spectacular Moonlight Show on Saturday night. But this Saturday she discovers that a stripy bird has lost her chick, and immediately offers to help. But the black and white shapes in the reeds are only a chorus of croaking frogs, and the stripes in the grass turn out to be a scary snake! Lost in a dark forest, far from home, Ziggy starts to wonder whether she and Bird will ever find the lost chick. And how will they find their way back in time for the magical Moonlight Show? A world of animals, colours, patterns and shapes awaits in this stunning new book. 'A lovely hide-and-seek story, charmingly illustrated by the author' Parents in Touch Each mask has a description of the character and behaviour of the animal portrayed. Vala can't decide which is more dangerous--the fact she's about to take her troubled young son trekking in Arizona's perilous Superstition Mountains, or that their guide is the one man from her past she's never managed to forget. What begins as an adventure for a shy boy quickly becomes something thrilling for the two adults. From the bestselling author of Captive Bride. The last thing the U.S. marshal wanted was to tote some prissy female through hostile Indian territory. But almost before they rode out of town, sparks were flying between the beautiful lady and rugged lawman. And before they'd crossed the border into Oklahoma, he promised her moonlight--and a love to last a lifetime. In Tahiti with her father to establish a trading post, Boston-born Sirena Sinclair, called Tiare by the Tahitians, becomes torn between her love for the island and her love for a handsome sea captain. Original. Nicole Rosseau, the second of wealthy New Orleans bigamist businessman Jean Cuvier's three widows, is desperate to protect her child's reputation. She pays a drifter to be her legal, but very temporary, husband. Nicole can't possibly know that Maxim Viel has a secret motive for accepting her offer and his own score to settle with the past. Original. "As much a book of poetry as a novel, as much a symphony as a memoir, this is an extraordinary book from a writer at the top of his powers. Reminiscent of Berger and Calvino, Jeff Talarigo manages to capture the breadth and circumference of story-telling, while also giving us a privileged insight into the daily life and dreams of Gaza." —Colum McCann, Thirteen Ways of Looking In the mode of J. M. Coetzee's Waiting for the Barbarians and Italo Calvino's Invisible Cities, In the Cemetery of the Orange Trees engages poetic language, mythic themes, and childlike perspectives to offer an original approach to a conflict that has become hardened and polarized. These linked stories of an American's experience in Gaza expose the seven-decade long Palestinian diaspora in a disquieting allegory of the clash between the occupied and the occupier. In a place where political posturing, bloody war, journalistic witness, and even patient negotiation have yielded so little understanding, we enter the cemetery of the orange trees, where urchins kite dead birds, goats utter wisdom, camels and donkeys huddle together, and merchandise magically passes underground through the tunnels of Gaza. But this is no fairy tale or bestiary. In the Cemetery of the Orange Trees is a waking, attentive dream-journal, leading us back to a place where hatred, strife, and even human language itself might sing. Jeff Talarigo is the author of two novels: The Pearl Diver and The Ginseng Hunter. He has lived in Gaza and Japan, and currently resides in Oakland, California. Newly married, writer Jan Baumgartner and her husband, John, pack up their home and busy lives in San Francisco trading the city verve for a quieter one along the rural coast of Maine. Looking forward to a slower pace, a life intertwined with nature, and greater opportunities to satiate their wanderlust for world travel, the couple buys a rambling Victorian house on the shores of Eggemoggin Reach, excited to begin this new chapter of their lives. But just a few years later, they receive the unexpected and devastating news that her husband is terminally ill with ALS, better known as Lou Gehrig's disease. In their 30s and 40s, in a place not quite yet home, without family or closest friends nearby, and facing a crippling disease that will leave him paralyzed from the neck down, the author chronicles the heartbreak and depth of their love as she struggles with the emotional and physical challenges as a full-time caregiver for her dying husband. Throughout the journey, she finds an unexpected source of inspiration in her travels to Africa, with and without John, a healing connection with the bounty of nature surrounding their coastal home, and her determination to one day return to her beloved Africa. From the rugged isolation of the Maine coast to the wilds of the African bush, Moonlight in the Desert of Left Behind is a poignant and often heartrendingly candid story of devotion, courage, and ultimately, hope. Sisters Kate and Gilly flee London to escape Gilly's cruel husband but are shanghaied onto a British warship that is captained by Noble Lassiter, a man determined to defend his country and defeat Kate's resisting heart. Original. As the snow starts to fall on a winter's night, a young arctic fox heads out to find food for her little brother, a stone hare is brought to life by moonlight magic and a brave zebra saves Santa's sleigh ride, just in time for Christmas. A delightful anthology of animal stories that makes perfect bedtime reading. Snuggle up with your little ones and share these sweet stories before they go to sleep.
