Friends of Eber is a reference guide designed to introduce readers to the living letters of the Hebrew alphabet. It is a result of forty-six days in the fall of 2017 when Apostle Aaron Smith called the people of The Rock of Mobile to study, meditate on, and engage with the Hebrew letters. Throughout that focused time, five treasured teachers shared their individual knowledge, unique interpretations, and revelations concerning the letters. Their teaching is collected here to provide a path for the Kingdom body to begin to see, hear, and know our friends, the living letters Have you ever seen a giant letter on a mountain slope and wondered what it was all about? If you've traveled by car in the West, chances are you've come across at least a few of the hundreds of hillside letters that dot the landscape. Representing towns and schools from Ajo, Arizona, to Zap, North Dakota, these mountain landmarks were created by locals with hometown pride or students full of school spirit. Some letters have been around for a century, many have a story to tell, and all are beloved community icons that boldly declare to all within their viewscape: We are here. This is our place, our school, our home. Hillside Letters A to Z: A Guide to Hometown Landmarks spells out in detail this distinctive western phenomenon, exploring its origins, customs, and controversies, as well as some of the nuts and bolts (or ABCs) of letter building. Adults and children alike will enjoy an engaging collection of stories featuring 60 letters from fourteen western states. Color photographs illustrate the featured letters, and a map shows letter sites nationwide. This book also lists all 426 known U.S. hillside letters, where they are, and what they stand for. Hillside Letters A to Z is a must for curious travelers, residents and alumni of letter locations, and anyone interested in western history. The future will belong to children with innovative minds. Which is why this team of education experts have drawn on their decades of applied research in creativity, individuality, play, and media to craft an engaging guide for parents who understand that creative thinking skills are no longer a luxury, but a necessity for success in the new, grown-up world of work. The book introduces the Sensory Alphabet, basic building blocks that are as powerful for building twenty-first-century literacies as the ABCs are for reading—and that are lacking in schools today. The Missing Alphabet also offers foundational knowledge, current research and a pragmatic path for parents to understand the individual strengths and creative potential that will help their own children learn productively in the future. To turn these ideas into action, there is a Field Guide full of resources and activities for parents and kids to explore together at home, in museums, and around the neighborhood. This tried-and-true approach engages children with the creative thinking process, the capacity to invent with many media, the ability to think across disciplines, and the reliance on (and joy in) the imagination. Over the past forty years, the authors have developed highly successful programs for both in and out-of-school settings based on these concepts. Now, they offer parents a comprehensive guide for building the confidence and creative thinking skills for their own children—and now urgently needed for our collective future. Business Letters Made Simple is a unique, contemporary, practical guide for today's business letter writers. This helpful handbook contains over 150 sample letters designed so that they can be easily adapted for your own use. There are client letters, sales letters, credit and collection letters, letters to employees, to the media, to financial institutions, letters about services and products, letters about employment, letters of congratulation or condolence, and more. Each type of business letter is explained and demonstrated, including how to communicate effectively with overseas business correspondents. Handy tips on how to write each kind of letter appear throughout the text.
