Crime Artist Sep 30 2020 Wasn't life simpler when your closest companion was an imaginary friend? Meet Tim Waldo, a computer engineer who finds growing up is growing old. Family finances push his wife, Megan, back into the work force, which means Tim must help more in the one place he is hopeless - around the house. Between the bills he can't pay and the time he can't spend, he discovers that he had dropped his aspirations while struggling to juggle his home life and his career. When his American Dream turns into a nightmare, he daydreams of a beautiful co-worker named Heather. From his rusty car to his boring work meetings to the practice gym of his daughter's basketball team, Heather transcends from Tim's mind to brighten his dull existence. With his marriage in need of some magic and his troubled company in need of a miracle, his fantasy girl becomes his trusted ally in solving the mysteries of life, love, and paying attention to things that matter. Can our hero stop the wicked finance manager from closing the factory, rescue his princess from the evil coach, and find the treasure buried deep inside him? Does a pocket protector chafe his nipple?

Positioning Your Museum as a Critical Community Asset Nov 13 2021 In this how-to guide, practitioners at cultural heritage venues share their experiences in building sustainable relationships with their geographic and demographic communities. The volume includes practical discussions of activity types that museums can employ to build relationships with their communities including education, advocacy, co-creative, while serving as a community asset and resource. Case studies include direct application of successes and lessons learned with an emphasis on small to medium sized institutions with limited staff and budgets. Highlights include: Thematic discussions on topics such as building an advocacy network between the museum and community; developing cultural heritage institutions as critical and essential components of educational systems; museum response to community expressed needs through a co-creative approach; the varied means for developing community members as cultural heritage stakeholders; and positioning the cultural heritage institution as an integral community asset. Twenty case studies directly apply the thematic discussions in small to medium-sized museum contexts. Extensive list of resources including digital links to forms, workbooks, and guides produced in the case studies. A list of national organizations and an extensive bibliography on community museum engagement. Specifically addressed to smaller institutions with limited budgets and limited or no full-time staff, the volume includes cost-effective projects that can be completed for $1,500 or less.

Unplugging the Classroom Jun 08 2021 Unplugging the Classroom: Teaching with Technologies to Promote Students' Lifelong Learning provides techniques to help teaching and learning in an age where technology untethers instruction from the classroom, from semester seat-time, and from a single source of expertise. The book brings together researchers and practitioners from diverse academic fields, including library perspectives, and presents interdisciplinary discussions from both theoretical and applied areas. It is unique in its goal of bringing educators and librarians together to explore the challenges that are faced by students and faculty in any time, any place, any path, and any pace learning. In spite of the fact that the mobile revolution has definitively arrived, students and faculty alike aren't ready to make the leap to mobile learning. The pressures of technological advances, along with the changing nature of learning, will demand increasingly profound changes in education. Researchers have begun to address this issue, but the revolution in mobile communication has not been accompanied by a concomitant growth in pedagogical resources for educators and students. More importantly, such growth needs to be undergirded by sound learning theories and examples of best practice. Provides a hands-on resource useful to both novices and experts for technology-enabled teaching and learning Gives both discipline-specific and cross-disciplinary perspectives Discusses discipline-specific mobile applications Offers an opportunity to meet the needs of contemporary learners and foster their competencies as lifelong learners Addresses emerging issues in technology and pedagogy

The War at Home Nov 25 2022 The War at Home brings together some of the state's leading historians to examine the connections between Arkansas and World War I. These essays explore how historical entities and important events such as Camp Pike, the Little Rock Picric Acid Plant, and the Elaine Race Massacre were related to the conflict as they investigate the issues of gender, race, and public health. This collection sheds new light on the ways that Arkansas participated in the war as well as the ways the war affected Arkansas then and still does today.

Digital Tools for Teaching Jan 27 2023 "In this Web 2.0 world, your students are communicating, customizing, and creating like never before. It's no surprise, therefore, that standards for the twenty-first century classroom recognize the value of teaching with digital tools. Knowing how to effectively teach with them is another matter altogether. In Digital Tools for Teaching, educator and self-proclaimed techno-geek Steve Johnson shows you how to transform 30 cutting-edge e-tools into powerful vehicles for teaching—and learning. You will find: •An array of low-to-no-cost digital tools ranging in complexity and all focused on educational merit; •Step-by-step instructions that take the mystery out of using each e-tool; •Lesson connections and lists of classroom-proven ideas for applying each e-tool across the curriculum; •Backdoor links to the special services and discounts available to teachers for many of the digital tools profiled in this book; •Standards-based assessment rubrics and strategies (including how to implement digital portfolios) to help you meet twenty-first century classroom instructional goals; and •Links to Steve Johnson's website and blog for news and updates on incorporating technology-based activities into your lessons.

Complete and ready-to-use, Digital Tools for Teaching shows you how to connect your teaching to the e-tools that are relevant to your students' lives. Whether you're already an advanced e-tool user or a newbie, Digital Tools for Teaching will increase your confidence using digital tools, broaden your perspective, and give you new teaching strategies that you can use tomorrow."

The Web and Parents Oct 24 2022 For young people today, this is not their parents' Internet. As students, they do schoolwork online at a younger age than ever. In their social lives, Web 2.0 has opened up new ways to express themselves and connect with others. But how can parents make sure their child's online experiences are appropriate? How do they make sure the Internet does not pass them by?

Brain Boxing May 19 2022 Brain Boxing is a serious

confrontation. Its so wrong that its right. It is influential, hypnotizing, and mind-catching. People talk about achievements, tending to judge others based on the amount of success theyve had. But I write just for fun. If I hadnt figured out how to have my work printed and bound, Id still be doing something along these lines. But it just so happens that I found a way to market my books and present them to you. Brain Boxing is my contribution to society. Ill never apologize for anything Ive written. The stories I write take too much time, too much thought. If you dont get them then someone else will.

The Greatest Classrooms of the World Feb 22 2020 Since 1979, William Taylor has been taking hundreds of Northern California high school students to Europe, North Africa and the Middle East to uncover the roots of Western history as part of a unique educational program. Arete West students participate in a nine-month curriculum, reading and discussing historical literature, then fly overseas to explore the sites they studied. For Arete students, the odyssey is both a journey into history and a formative encounter with the self. This book celebrates the Arete program, as William Taylor and his students articulate Arete memories from the past four decades. For young adults interested in the world around them, parents wishing to enrich their children's education, and teachers seeking new and inspiring ways to reach their students, The Greatest Classrooms of the World presents fresh ideas and possibilities. More than a collection of personal trip memories, this book communicates the search for personal excellence, the passion of international youth travel, and a program that can be emulated and adapted all over the world.

The papers cover topics such as peer and collaborative learning in informatics; pedagogical approaches to teaching specific informatics courses; workplace learning related to information systems; e-learning; ICTs for development; mobile solutions in learning in the North and South; lifelong learning; applications for disabled students; traversal skills and computational thinking; and teacher education in the global South.

Teaching Music Improvisation with Technology Jun 20 2022 Incorporating technology in music classrooms can take the mystery out of improvisation. What music technology does is establish a strong foundation for chord, scale, phrase, ear training, and listening exercises, creating a solid backdrop for student expression. As author and educator Mike Fein shows, technology is a valuable tool that can be used effectively to supplement student practice time while also developing the skills necessary to become a proficient improviser. Complete with notated exercises, accompaniment tracks, and listening resources, this book gives teachers methods to set their students free to make mistakes and to develop their own ear for improvisation at their own pace. Broken down into significant areas of music technology, each chapter focuses on developing a new skill and guides readers to tangible outcomes with the assistance of hands-on activities that can be immediately implemented into the classroom. In addition to these hands-on activities, each chapter provides the reader with an "iPad Connection" to various iOS applications, which allows teachers and students another, albeit significantly less expensive, medium through which to learn, share, and create art. This book will appeal to music educators of students in grades K-12. It will serve collegiate music education courses secondarily, and will also appeal to those music educators who work with improvisation and technology.

Our Playtime Friend Apr 25 2020 Returning to her 1950s childhood on a small farm in Milton, Kentucky, Victoria rhymes her adventures in the cow pasture by a spring-fed brook. Imagination is the playtime friend that allows her and her siblings to create playhouses, boats, and fishing fun. This story has value for preserving the cultural heritage of rural farm life in 1950s America. It is a wonderful read-aloud since the vocabulary is challenging and yet appropriate for preschool and early elementary children. The rhyme and rhythm are very appealing. Children will enjoy the brilliant watercolor illustrations created by Annette Lewis. They can also seek and find the secret critter that appears in each illustration. It is great for one-on-one reading by a parent or grandparent to a little one as the book offers opportunities for the older generation to share their own experiences with the younger one.
