Family, Power, and Politics in Egypt Nov 08 2020 This political anthropology is the first to explicitly utilize the family as a basic conceptual tool in understanding a Middle Eastern political system. Springborg scrutinizes the familial, social, and political context of Marei's career, and discusses how the rural nobility of the late nineteenth century has used regional, family, patron-client, and small-group loyalties to maintain its power under Nasser and Sadat.

The Discovery of Tutankhamun's Tomb Sep 18 2021 This is the fascinating story of the greatest archeological discoveries ever, the discovery of the intact tomb of the 18th Dynasty Pharaoh, Tutankhamun (colloquially known as "King Tut" and "the boy king"), in November 1922. We experience the adventure, the painstaking work, the magic, the excitement and the awe through the eyes of the "tomb raider" himself, archaeologist Howard Carter.

Ancient Egypt Dec 22 2021 Walk, no run "like an Egyptian" right into the past. This thematic unit is designed to help students understand what life was really like in this ancient civilization. The unit starts off with core teaching lessons to build a base for knowledge, followed by student worksheets that compliment the core lessons. Optional lessons are included to add a degree of flexibility and possible enrichment activities to the lesson. The unit finishes off with a culminating project that challenges students to create their own Ancient Egyptian murals in cooperative leaning groups. This History lesson provides a teacher and student section with a variety of reading passages, activities, and answer key to create a well-rounded lesson plan.

The Archaeology of Urbanism in Ancient Egypt Dec 30 2019 In this book, Nadine Moeller challenges prevailing views on Egypt's non-urban past and argues for Egypt as an early urban society. She traces the emergence of urban features during the Predynastic period up to the disintegration of the powerful Middle Kingdom state (c.3500–1650 BC). This book offers a synthesis of the archaeological data that sheds light on the different facets of urbanism in ancient Egypt. Drawing on evidence from recent excavations as well as a vast body of archaeological data, this book explores the changing settlement patterns by contrasting periods of strong political control against those of decentralization. It also discusses households and the layout of domestic architecture, which are key elements for understanding how society functioned and evolved over time. Moeller reveals what settlement patterns can tell us about the formation of complex society and the role of the state in urban development in ancient Egypt.

Out of Egypt Unit Aug 06 2020 The Out of Egypt unit uses the Bible story included in Exodus 2-14. God worked through Moses to free the people of Israel from slavery. God works through ordinary people to do God's work in the world today. By the end of this unit children will: identify the Exodus as the defining event in the lives of the Hebrew people; discover that God wants all people to be free, to be treated with respect, justice, and kindness; recognize that, like persons of Bible times, they are called by God and can respond to God's call in many different ways; be assured that they can trust God's guidance and God's care and know that God is always with them; be shown how God can work through people to accomplish God's work on earth; discuss how God is present with people in the world today, even where there is suffering and trouble; be reminded that they can turn to God when they are troubled or afraid, and know that God hears and cares. A Model Unit For Grade 8: The Eye of Egypt Feb 21 2022 A Model Unit for Grade 8: The Eye of Egypt is one book in the series Tools for Instruction and Reading Assessment. The series consists of twenty-four companion documents to Teaching to Diversity: The Three Block Model of Universal Design for Learning by Jennifer Katz. The model unit integrates major themes from Manitoba's curricula for the first term of the grade 8 school year. The topics are "Early Societies: Ancient Egypt" from the social studies curriculum and "Optics" from the science curriculum. These are brought into other disciplines: mathematics, physical education and health, language arts, and fine arts — particularly through the lens of the multiple intelligences (MI). Differentiated activities based on MI approaches inspire diverse students and accommodate their individual learning styles. MI activity cards are included, as well as planners that outline the essential understandings, essential questions, and final inquiry projects for the unit. Rubrics, based on Bloom's taxonomy, show a progression of conceptual thinking from rote, basic understanding to synthesized, higher-order analysis. Teachers can use this model unit as a template for planning subsequent thematic units for the rest of the school year.

From Mummies to Microchips Aug 18 2021 This volume offers a detailed case study of the internationally acclaimed online programmes in Egyptology at the University of Manchester, UK. It distils over a decade of online teaching experience and student feedback, providing guidance for instructors developing their own online offerings. Today, many universities are actively encouraging their teaching staff towards the development of: • online programmes (programmes to be taught entirely online) and/or • online units (units to be incorporated into "blended" programmes taught partially online and partially face-to-face). Unfortunately, the staff tasked with the development of online learning rarely have access to the expertise that they need to help them utilise their teaching skills to their full potential. Technical assistance may be provided by the university e-learning department, but pedagogical and practical help – the support of colleagues with many years' experience teaching online – is lacking. Written by experts, the book provides an invaluable guide for those wishing – or being compelled – to establish their own online courses within the humanities.
