Drafting Contracts in Legal English Jun 26 2022 Written in a deliberate and concise manner, devoid of United States colloquialisms, Drafting Contracts in Legal English: Cross-border Agreements Governed by U.S. Law is designed for classroom use as well as self-study. Teaching a strategic approach and sequential steps to drafting contracts, the text includes examples and exercises based on cross-border agreements such as distribution agreements, licensing, franchises and equipment leases. Special drafting issues in cross-border agreements are also considered: choice of language clauses, choice of forum clauses, indemnification provisions, force majeure clauses, counterpart clauses, international alternative dispute resolution clauses, and the choice to opt in or out of the CISG. By providing appropriate explanations of United States law, the text increases student comprehension as suggested drafting approaches are placed in legal context. This unique guide discusses the purpose of and provides drafting tips for contract parts, contract organization and formatting, basic contract provisions, letters of intent, and the craft of reviewing and revising contracts. End-of-chapter exercises test overall comprehension and apply drafting concepts presented in the chapter. To increase the non-native speakers lexical range, vocabulary is derived from a statistical analysis of thousands of authentic contracts. To help with contract sentence structures that are challenging for non-native speakers, syntax structures are based on comparison to databases with authentic contracts. A glossary of contract terms is based on frequency counts from thousands of authentic contracts and usage in text, contextualized and cross-referenced with most common collocations.

An Analysis of Selected Provisions in Construction Labor Agreements Jun 14 2021 The purpose of this research effort is to investigate some of the pressures facing the modern day construction craft union and to try to determine the effects those pressures have had on labor management negotiations. The objective is to determine the relative strengths of unions of each craft in the construction industry through an analysis of selected provisions in union agreements. The data for this study was collected from union agreements between multi-employer organizations, such as the Associated General Contractors of America, and six basic construction crafts: carpenters, cement masons, iron workers, laborers, operating engineers, and teamsters. Since a serious threat to union security comes from open shop competition further comparisons will be made between agreements from Union Shop states and Right to Work states. In general, labor agreements in Right to Work states would be expected to be more favorable to management than the agreements occurring in Union Shop states.

This NBIA publication includes more than 65 sample documents from working incubation programs to help you craft applications; client handbooks; graduation policies; nondisclosure agreements; conflict-of-interest policies; lease, license and service agreements; and other types of documents. In addition, this book describes the many important purposes of formal documents in the incubation setting and provides advice and lessons learned from incubation professionals and attorneys.

The Book of Agreement Jan 02 2023 Crafting agreements with others is a fundamental life skill. Unfortunately, we were never taught how to do it. The agreements most people make are incomplete and ineffective—they usually focus on protecting against what might go wrong instead of figuring out how to make things go right. The Book of Agreement offers a new approach. Stewart Levine demonstrates the superiority of "agreements for results" versus "agreements for protection" and outlines ten principles for creating agreements that explicitly articulate desired outcomes and provide a roadmap to achieving them. He includes over thirty specific templates that can be used to create this new type of agreement for results in a variety of organizational and personal contexts.

Examining Structural Components of Peace Agreements and Their Durability Sep 29 2022 The authors address a question that is central to many ADR studies; namely, are some peace agreements really better designed than others, and, if so, will these agreements last longer? It is argued that peace ultimately rests on the parties choosing to cooperate with one another to uphold the terms of the agreement. Peace is thus framed as an ongoing, dynamic process involving constant renegotiation.

Mediators, therefore, need to be forward-looking and mindful of how to craft an agreement that has features that recognize the high likelihood that problems will arise after the formal signing.

Energy Efficiency Clauses in Charter Party Agreements Apr 24 2022 This book provides practical solutions for addressing energy efficiency as a clause term within a charter party contract. For this, upon a reflection of the regulatory craft, it analyzes key concepts of case law, and discusses them together with commercial and economic principles. In this way, the book aims at offering a comprehensive, interdisciplinary view of the chartering process, together with a new approach for safeguarding energy efficiency investments. A special emphasis is given to the maritime industry. Here, the newly developed framework, based on game theory, has been successfully applied to demonstrate the importance of including a clause term in contract negotiation to achieve protection against both an uncertain market and an even more challenging shipping environment. The book not only fills a gap in the literature, covering a topic that has been largely neglected to date, yet it offers researchers and practitioners extensive information to change the chartering process radically.
